Barack Obama's record against the IL Born Alive Infants Protection Act

Can you imagine not giving babies their basic human rights, no matter how they entered our world? Barack Obama voted four times as IL State Senator against affording born alive babies legal recognition as human beings, which would then guarantee them provision of medical care.

Babies do survive attempted abortions and some, such as Gianna Jessen, featured in our t.v. ad, can thrive if they simply receive medical care. The American people need to know Senator Obama's record of opposing the IL Born Alive Infant Protection Act.

Please join us in calling on Senator Obama to fully support Born Alive Infant protections.

Fact Check

- The IL Born Alive Infants Protection Act was not about abortion, it was simply acknowledging the reality that any baby born alive is a human being and deserves legal protection. This is an issue that unites Americans across party and ideological lines.
- The IL Born Alive Infants Protection Act was necessary because the 1975 IL law that some claim protected abortion survivors left the decision of providing them medical care to the very doctor aborting them.
- Sen. Obama now claims he would have voted for the federal version of the Born Alive Infants Protection Act, which passed unanimously in the U.S. Senate, and about which the abortion group NARAL expressed neutrality. But in 2003, as chairman of the IL State Senate Health and Human Services Committee, Obama voted yes on an amendment making the IL version identical to the federal one – and then went on to vote no on the amended bill!
